

DONALD BEASLEY
INSTITUTE

Disability, home and family in a multicultural context: Phase 1

We want you to be part of our study

What is this document about?

This Easy Read document is an invitation from the Donald Beasley institute to take part in a study.

The Donald Beasley Institute does research on the lives of disabled people in New Zealand.

A study is looking for answers to a question you have and writing down what you find out.

Research is when you look for a of answers about a subject.

Research is often done by doing a lot of studies.

This research is about how people who are part of the disabled community think about:

- their homes
- their families.

What is this research about?

We want to find out how people in the disability community think about:

- home
- family
- the right to have a home
- the right to have a family
- what respecting the right to a home means
- what respecting the right to have a family means.

The questionnaire

We are asking people to fill out a questionnaire as part of our research.

A questionnaire is a list of questions that need to be answered to be part of our research.

The questionnaire will take up to an hour to finish.
